(illegible ..... ) age when he started out to carve a fortune for himself in the country farther north. At this time buggies or carriages were almost unknown in this part of the country, the settlers doing their travelling on horseback or in rough carts. Together they made for themselves a home north of what is now known as the Beavor Creek settlement, they being among the first pioneers of that section. In fact Mr. Campion broke the first road through to his farm. Here he engaged in farming and lumbering, shaping the timber as well as selling the logs, and filling contracts for various builders.

After about twelve years of happy wedded life his wife passed away. Five children were born to them as follows: James, Richard E. and George, all of Manitoba, Mary, who died at an early age, and Elizabeth, now Mrs. Stevens, of Manitoba.

A few years later Mr. Campion was again married to Mina Elizabeth Pallisser, of Foxboro, and two children were born to them, they being, Tryphena, now Mrs. Littlefield, and Aggie, now Mrs. Long, both living in South Dakota, The second wife also predeceased him quite a number of years ago.

He was a consistent member of the Anglican church here, it being a foregone conclusion that he would be in his place at every service and he was always ready to assist in any of the work of the church.

He was a son of the late Edward R. Carscallen, of U. E. Loyalist stock, who was on active service as a lieutenant in the Canadian militia during the rebellion of 1837. He was born in the village of Selby, in the township of North Frederickburg, County of Lennox, in 1814. He was educated at the Napanee Academy and at the University of Nashville, Tennessee.

In 1875 he was married to Marcie Pringle, who preceded him to the grave a few years ago. By this issue he leaves two children, Frank, of Marmora, and Mrs. James Parker, wife of the assistant general-manager of the Sovereign Bank at Montreal.

He was married again a few years ago and his widow survives.

The deceased was quite wealthy. For many years he was a private banker and broker, real estate dealer and lumber merchant in the village of Marmora, and was the original owner of the now celebrated Cordova gold mine. He was also a Justice of the Peace and had been a Councillor and Reeve of his township and chairman of the School Board.

He was first returned to the House of Commons at a bye-election on Dec. 30, 1892. when Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the then member for North Hastings, was appointed to the Senate. Mr. Carscallen was re-elected at the general elections of 1896 and 1900 and retired in 1904, when the County was gerrymandered and made into two constituencies.

MR. A. W. CARSCALLEN ***

Died at Marmora.

DIED FROM PARALYTIC STROKE AFTER ILLNESS OF ONE WEEK. FUNERAL TOOK PLACE FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Mr. A. W. Carscallen, the first citizen of Marmora, died at his residence Tuesday morning, Feb. 12th. He took a paralytic stroke on Monday of Feb. 4th, from which he never regained consciousness. For a number of years he had been troubled with a weak heart which no doubt hastened his death, though up to a week ago he was about town and regularly at his office.

Mr. Carscallen was 68 years of age. He was born at North Fredericksburg, Lennox County, on 14th October, 1814, He was educated at Napanee Academy and afterward at Nashville University, Tennessee. He then taught school a short time and gave up teaching to work for the old Page Lumber Company which brought him to Marmora. The Page Company sold out to Rathbun Company and Mr. Carscallen worked for the latter company. He was at different times a partner with the late Geo. W. Bleecker, the late W. E. Gladney and also for some years operated the Pearce Co. saw-mills here. During the later years he conducted a private bank there and a few years ago sold out to the Sovereign Bank. Since then his business career has not been so active though he acted as executor for several estates and as agent for several leading Insurance Companies.

During these many years of faithful attention to business he amassed a considerable fortune, large in fact for a town the size of Marmora.

In his earlier life he took an active interest in municipal matters and represented Marmora and Lake as Reeve and attended County Council. When Sir Mackenzie Bowell was appointed to the Senate. Mr. Carscallen was elected M.P. for North Hastings. That was in the year 1892. He was re-elected in 1896 and again 1900. In the year 1904 North Hastings was portioned off with West and East Hastings and he retired in favor of Mr. E. Guss Porter, the present member.

In 1874 he married Marcia Pringle, who died of tuberculosis some years ago leaving two children now surviving, Mrs. James Parker, of Montreal, and Frank Carscallen, of Weyburn.

In May 1905, Mr. Carscallen was married to Mrs. Gladney, who survives him. For some years A. W. Carscallen had been in anything but robust health, his heart giving him much trouble. In early life and to the end, Mr. Carscallen was a worker not only with his hands, but with his active brain and the result is seen in the fortune he accumulated, in the firm grasp he maintained over his political party in North Hastings and in fact with everything to which he applied himself.

The mining industry owes much to him as he developed the Cordova, Gold Mine and sold it to the present owners. Besides he was for years connected with the mining industry generally.

Mr. Carscallen was Conservative both in politics and business, but at the same time he was active and energetic. With his fine logical, clear brain he would have shone brightly in a larger centre. But he was not strongly fired with great ambitions, but it can be truly said of him that he had brains. Everyone felt it even if they did not understand or always sympathize. One of those types of men who take an inflexible course, whether popular or unpopular. Mr. Carscallen was a pretty good type of the keen, modern intellect, worked on the truly progressive principle of the survival of the fittest without unkindness or harshness. Many could not and did not appreciate this. That was not his fault. He would be the last man to wish to be painted a saint. No doubt he made some mistakes. At the same time they were few and his sane and good acts are many. He was not a sentimentalist though kind of heart in a real sense and a man whose home life was of the very best and highest type, being affectionate to his family, home-loving and hospitable. Mr. Carscallen reminded one of those good old skips of oak that always bravely and successfully withstood every storm it came against. And though decidedly modern in his business career he was a simple upholder of orthodox religion and a faithful member of the Church of England. A truly great man has crossed the bar. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended by friends and acquaintances from near and far.

CARSCALLEN - At Marmora, on Saturday, September 21st, 1895. Marcia, wife of A. W. Carscallen, aged 39 years.

MRS. A. W. CARSCALLEN. (PRINGLE) ***

The announcement of the death of Mrs. Carscallen wife of A. W. Carscallen, Esq., of Marmora, the representative of North Hastings in the House of Commons, was scarcely a surprise as the deceased lady had been in poor health for a number of years, and her condition was given up as hopeless for months past. She was a victim of consumption last winter. Mr. Carscallen took her to California in the hope that the salubrious climate of that country would bring relief, but in this they were sorely disappointed, and after their return to their home in Marmora the deceased continued gradually sinking despite every care and attention that human mind could think of, until death relieved her sufferings. Mrs. Carscallen's maiden name was Pringle, and besides her sorrowing husband leaves a son and daughter to mourn her early death.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, and was very largely attended—a most fitting tribute to the universal respect in which the deceased, but husband and family are held. Among those present from a distance we noticed A. C. Miller, MP for Prince Edward ; H. Corby, M. P.; W. B. Northrup, M. P., J. C. Jamieson of the Intelligencer. Geo. H. Pope; C. C. Chamberlain, W. W. Pope, of Belleville, Dr. Jacques, Major Grass, Trenton ; W. Martin, Warden of the County, Frank Parker, J. E. Halliwell, Stirling; besides a number of others from these places whose names we did not learn.

From Madoc were present A. F. Wood, ex-M. P.; Frank Thompson, ex-Warden; D. E. K. Stewart; J. R. Orr, of the Review; Jas. English, Reeve Madoc township. Friends were present from Campbellford and other places. Telegrams of sympathy and regret were received from Hon. M. Bowell, E. W. Rathbun, and many others. The funeral ceremony was conducted by Rev. C. M. Harris, at St. Paul's church. The bearers were Messrs. J. W. Height, W. E. Gladney, J. R. Pearce, Chas. Bleecker, Capt. O'Neil and J. Bowen. .

The floral offerings were beautiful. Among the most conspicuous were a Wreath, with the word "Mamma," from her son and daughter; Pillow, from her sister Ida ; Cross. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald; Wreath H. Corby. M. P ; Pillow, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. K. Stewart, Madoc; Sickle, E. B. Morgan. Oshawa ; Cross. Miss Bentley ; Palm Leaf and cut flowers, Mrs. J. W. Devlin ; Cross, Conservative Association Madoc village ; Cross. Mr and Mrs. Geo. H. Pope, Belleville, besides numerous bouquets of flowers.

Mrs. A. W. Carscallen. wife of A. W. Carscallen, M. P., died at her home Saturday night. She had been ill for a long time of consumption. Mr. Carscallen took her to California in the early spring, returning in July ; but her health was not improved. For a long time she had been so weak that her family and friends thought she was going. Mr. Carscallen and family have the sympathy of a very large number of friends throughout the county and province. News of the funeral will be given next week.

MRS. MARY E. CARSCALLEN ***

After a long illness Mrs. Mary E. Carscallen passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Hodge, at Oakville, on Sunday, October 11th. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Mills and was born in Port Elgin but nearly all her life was spent in Marmora, where she held a very warm place in the esteem and affection of all classes. She was in her 80th year.

Her first husband, the late W. E. Gladney, died in 1902. He was for years a prominent Marmora merchant. One daughter, Mrs. James Hodge, Oakville, and two sons, E. M. Gladney, Toronto, and C. W. Gladney, Marmora, survive. In 1905 the deceased was married to the late A. W. Carscallen, former M.P. for North Hastings, who conducted a private bank in Marmora for years. The late Mrs. Carscallen was a woman of broad sympathies, kindly and generous. She took a deep interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of the community. For many years she gave valued assistance to St. Paul's Anglican and St. Andrew's (formerly the Methodist) Church, both personal service and financial help. She also took a deep interest in the Women's Institute, helping in its various enterprises while in Marmora and sending annual contributions after ill health made it necessary for her to leave Marmora. She also supported the Fair and various other community activities.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, following a service held on Monday evening at her late residence by Rev. C. K. Nicoll. of Knox Presbyterian Church, Oakville. The cortege proceeded by motor to Marmora where service was conducted' in St. Paul's Church by Rev. A. B. Caldwell with Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth assisting.

MR. FRANK CARCALLEN HAS CROSSED * THE DARK RIVER

This afternoon there will be laid to rest the remains of Mr. Frank Carscallen who died Tuesday morning at the age of thirty two years. He had been ill but a few days, and, though most skillfully treated and nursed, the spark of life vanished away. His death has cast deep gloom over the community.

He was born here, only son of the late A. W. Carscallen.

He was a young man whom everybody liked well. It is doubtful if a single mean act could be credited to him. His death singularly illustrates the fact that age is not necessary to obtain the kindly feeling of sympathy of a community.

The funeral leaves the Carscallen residence at 2 p. m. and the remains will be laid to rest, in Marmora cemetery.

Mrs. James Parker is the only surviving member of the family.
