enjoy not only swimming and boating but their children could play on the merry-go-round, and swings as well.

The slide that reached out into the lake was very high and was built by Dad and a neighbour, Jerry Marshall. To test this achievement, Dad and Harry Morrow were the first to go down. At the end of the well lighted dock was a diving tower. Nearby was a place to buy ice cream and treats and a dance floor overlooking the lake. Picnics were booked ahead for weeks. Our children will always remember the good times they had there on vacation.

Burt was everybody's friend; his congenial attitude attributing to his success. He rented the resort a few years after his retirement and then it was permanently closed. In 1926, he married Annie Hagerman, who died in 1976 at the age of 84. They had one son, Garnet, who resides on the farm with his two sons, Lance and Todd, making the fifth generation.

Compiled and written by Marjorie (Searles) Hagerman. Contributions by my dear sister Nellie gratefully acknowledged.

SHEA FAMILY

Ellen Long

The terms "Shea's Hill" and "Shea's Bridge" may not convey any meaning to the younger people of this area, but to the older generation, they may bring back many recollections of earlier days.

Michael Shea and Mary Fitzpatrick, both descendants of Irish immigrants, were married on September 24, 1900, in the St. James Church, Stirling. They settled on the family farm located on the 9th Concession of Sidney Township. (Farm now owned by Robert Philp.)

In 1888, the farm was bequeathed to brothers, Michael, George and Thomas by their late father, John Shea. George and Thomas went West at the turn of the century, however Michael remained on the farm until his death in 1941.

In the 1930's, Highway 33 (which ran through the center of the farm for approximately 1¼ miles) was extended, and in so doing, approximately 12 acres of land was taken from the 212 acre farm, leaving 48 acres in the village of Stirling and the remainder in Sidney Township.

Rawdon Creek meandered its way through this area and so made this an ideal dairy farm where herds of Holstein cattle were seen grazing in the pastures. Corn and potatoes were favorite crops and the making of maple syrup was the chief spring-time project. Some 500 maple trees were tapped each year.

Michael and Mary (Fitzpatrick) Shea

The Shea family included one son and six daughters who all attended Stirling schools.

John T. Shea, now deceased, was a 1929 graduate of Queen's Medical School, Kingston, Ontario, specializing in Neurology and Psychiatry. His active years were spent with the Department of Health in Massachusetts and also Superintendent of State Hospitals in various parts of Massachusetts.

Ellen (Shea) Long, now residing in Frankford, Ontario, graduated from the Peterborough Normal School (Teacher's College) and taught in various schools throughout this area.

Evelyn Shea, now deceased, worked for 47 years as a secretary at General Electric in New York state.

Marcella (Shea) Powers, now deceased, graduated from the Millard Philmore School of Nursing in Buffalo, New York, and worked as a registered nurse in that area.

Madeline (Shea) Warren, now residing in Marmora, Ontario, attended the Belleville Business College and then worked at Bata Shoe.

Patricia (Shea) Dalrymple, now residing in Albuquerque, New Mexico, progressed in Business Education and worked as a secretary in Rochester, New York.

Pauline (Shea) Nootz, now residing in Albany, New York, also attended the Belleville Business College and worked at the Department of Health in the state of New York.

O'SHEA—QUINLAN

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the Roman Catholic Church, Marmora, on Saturday morning, July 5, by Rev. Father Farrell, when Mary Helena Veronica Quinlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Quinlan, of Cordova Mines, became the bride of William Patrick O'Shea, eldest son of Mrs. Walter Foley, Madoc, and the late Mr. J. J. O'Shea.

The bride entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Miss Reta Deacon and was lovely in an azure-blue sheer frock with hat to match and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink sweet peas. Miss Kay O'Shea, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a rose sheer frock with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses.

Mr. Bernard Quinlan, cousin of the bride, supported the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to Havelock where a wedding dinner was served. Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for Toronto and points west. On their return they will reside near Springbrook.

On Friday evening, July 18, a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Shea (nee Veronica Quinlan) gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Quinlan, Cordova, to bid them farewell and wish them happiness in their future home. They received many beautiful presents.

A delicious lunch was served after which order was called and the following address read:

Cordova, July 18, 1941

Dear Bill and Bud:

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here tonight to spend a last few hours before your departure to your new home. To you both we extend our sincere good wishes. May the sunshine of good luck be with you always, through a long and happy wedded life.

As a slight remembrance of your friends of Cordova and Marmora we ask you to accept these gifts.

Your friends and neighbors of Cordova.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Shea thanked the crowd in a few well chosen words for their kindness and good wishes, then dancing and singing were enjoyed the remainder of the evening.
